INTRODUCTION.

THE attention of the trade is most respectfully called to this, our new, enlarged and revised Catalogue. Having added upwards of sixty new designs, including Terra-Cotta Ware, Glass Shades, Fish Globes, variety of Chain Brackets, &c., &c.

Would call SPECIAL ATTENTION to the fact that in revising our Catalogue we were obliged to change our old numbers, and in order to avoid any possible mistake in ordering goods, we have numbered NOT only every design, but every design, size and color where it changes the price, therefore kindly request dealers to use the numbers in ordering goods.

SPECIAL NOTICE

We, the undersigned, have purchased the entire business of the late John Fritz, corner Fifth and Somerset Streets, Philadelphia, Stocks, Moulds, Fixtures, Materials, &c., and have removed the same to our present location. Having recently greatly enlarged our facilities, we are prepared to promptly fill orders from his designs as well as our own.

OUR TERMS

Are Nett Cash, unless otherwise agreed upon. Parties unknown to us, in order to avoid delay in shipping, will please send cash, postal money order, or draft on Philadelphia or New York, with their order, or satisfactory reference on Philadelphia or New York houses, when time is wanted.

No goods will be sent by express C. O. D. unless orders are accompanied with a sufficient amount of cash to pay all expenses and express charges in case of non-acceptance of goods.

All goods will be carefully packed by experienced packers in barrels, crates, or tierces, at a small expense, and delivered free of charge to any Steamboat or Railroad Depot in Philadelphia, after which they are at purchasers' risk.

Purchasers will please notify us promptly when an error has occurred in filling their orders; we desire to give entire satisfaction.

As we are manufacturing the largest, most complete, and artistic line of Floricultural Terra-Cotta Ware in America, we take pleasure in presenting this catalogue to the trade, hoping our untiring efforts to produce things new and novel may be appreciated by a liberal patronage.

Respectfully,

Dealers having any of our Catalogues, please destroy them on receipt of this in order to avoid mistakes, the numbers and prices being changed.

LOG SWING.

A GENERAL WANT SUPPLIED.

Experience and general observation have taught us that the getting and preparing of Chains for Logs and Baskets, is quite a burden amongst the trade, besides, is often connected with considerable inconvenience and extra expense, so much so that the want of a ready chain has prevented the sale of many Logs and Baskets. In order to remedy this disadvantage, to both dealers and ourselves, we have added to our list, a full assortment of Chains and Swings, which by special arrangement, (buying them in large lots,) we are enabled to sell at current wholesale rates, either in packages of 12 yards each, or in swings with hooks and rings ready to be attached to Logs or Baskets at a moment's notice.

PRICE LIST

—OF—

Round, Oval and Square Glass Shades.

Please observe the following rules in ordering Shades.

To avoid misunderstanding and unnecessary correspondence in ordering

Round Shades, state the diameter and heighth;

Oval and Square Shades, state the width, length and heighth. For instance: 5 in. wide, 10 in. long, 15 in. high, or 5x10,—15.

The number of inches in a Shade, is ascertained as follows:

Round Shade, add the heighth and three times the diameter together, and you have the number of inches in a round shade, which you will find in the list below with prices adjoining.

Oval Shade, add the heighth, twice the length, once the width, and 3 inches extra.

Square Shade, add the heighth, twice the length, once the width, and 5 inches extra. The amount obtained by adding these together is the number of inches in an oval or square shade, which you will find in the following list with prices adjoining.

Large discounts on Glass Shades to the trade.

When a Shade, Round. Oval or Square, is less in heighth than diameter, the heighth is counted the same as large diameter.

No stands or fern cases furnished with shades unless ordered.

There is a great advantage in ordering shades that will nest, many shades will occupy but a small space, thereby greatly reducing the expense of freight and packing.

For prices on Patent Ventilated Shades, see page 40.

Fern or Flower-Growing Glass Shades.

NEW METHOD, OR VENTILATED SHADES.

The air enters at the base and as required circulates through the shade, ascends and passes out through the ventilator in the top, (see cuts,) this prevents the trouble of constantly removing the shade to leave the surplus moisture or foul air out, which is essential with the old method to keep the leaves and plants from decaying; but the great improvement in the Ventilator is, that the most delicate and even flowering plants can be successfully cultivated. This enables everybody to have a little conservatory of their own, which can be conveniently moved to any place desired.

Ventilators are only put in shades three inches higher than the diameter—for instance: 9 inches diameter, 12 inches high, or 12 inches diameter, 15 inches high, &c. Shades without ventilators will be furnished any heighth if specially stated. When ferneries are wanted with Shades and Chenille all complete, buyers can select patterns and sizes on pages 24 and 25, this will save dealers a great deal of extra trouble and expense in getting the shades which often do not fit.

By special arrangements with glass manufacturers, we are enabled to sell Glass Shades, Fish Globes, Hyacinth Glasses, &c., &c., at lowest market rates. Extra size Shades and Fern Cases made to order.

Fern and Flower Cases.

THE old style Fern Cases with a glass shade fitted tightly into the base as generally used, is adapted principally for the growing of Ferns; and such other plants as require a close wet atmosphere. But for the successful development of bedding or flowering plants, such as Geraniums, Roses, Verbenas, Fuschias, Bulbs, &c., the new method will be found far preferable. The harmonious condition required for growing all the plants of the old style Fernery, and the bedding or flowering plants as well, according to their separate requirements are fully reached; they supply an abundance of moisture, or as limited a quantity as may be desired; they give perfect ventilation throughout, and are easily watered through the ventilator opening by a small syringe, without disturbing the position of the most delicate plants; a very little practice in the use of the ventilator will suffice to prevent mildew, and the falling off of bud, leaf, or undeveloped blossom. As the atmosphere in the shade becomes pure, cloudiness, or condensation on the side of the shade ceases, and the noxious exhalations caused by decay of vegetable matter, disappear entirely; the plants thus vitalized, and in a healthy condition produce flowers in perfection. For the cultivation of slips the ventilated shades are very valuable, being free from the various changes and currents of air, encountered in the ordinary greenhouse beds.

The ventilated glass shades are suited also to other purposes, such as exhibiting delicate articles of confectionery, groceries, fruits, &c., which require ventilation; in lieu of glass, wire-gauze is placed in the ventilator frame, thus securing the contents of the glass shade from injury by insects.

The price of the ventilated shades is based on three inches above the diameter, they can be furnished as much lower as desired, but the price is the same as above, as they are only cut down. When no measure of height is given, orders are filled with height above—three inches above the diameter.

Directions for Planting.

Fill in about one inch in depth with powdered charcoal, or bits of soft brick, and the remaining space with light soil from the woods, about old tree stumps, or with soil in which Ferns are found growing, water well after planting; it is well, however, to avoid too much watering. If there should be found too much moisture inside the case, by the plants seeming over-loaded with it,—if by the old method, open daily for half an hour by placing a cork under one side; if by the new method, use the ventilator, that it may evaporate a little into outer air, no draining required, the water evaporates into the shades above.
